

Nestled in the Mountains of Appalachia

The solitude of the Great Smokies is the perfect setting to behold the wonder of God's creation and to experience the peace of Christ. As the mist slowly dissolves into a bright new day you have an opportunity to be all that God wants you to be. So, join Lutheran Men in Mission on October 16 through 18, 2009 as we take to the hills for a weekend of fun and fellowship.

One Year to Live is a new program not for the faint of heart, but for the courageous man with a full heart and a spiritual awareness that brings us together in one congregation – the body of Christ!

Don't miss this chance to learn, pray, listen, share and just live in community with our brothers in faith.

What Does the Schedule Look Like?

This is a spiritual boot camp so be prepared! Everyone should arrive to Lutheridge between 5:30 and 6:00 pm Friday October 16th. Saturday will be a full day, and Sunday October 18th the retreat will conclude at 3:00. This will be a weekend of strategy. A time for men to look into their lives and work with other men to hold each other accountable for their decisions made about their spiritual journey. Bethany co-leader Todd Little likes to call One Year to Live "Bible Study Meets Indiana Jones." "Our congregation is full of men in their 20s, 30s and 40s who are yearning for a spiritual connection with Christ and with their brothers in the church. This new program offers an opportunity to be adventurous and courageous while at the same time spiritual, genuine, and vulnerable." "This is truly a program that helps us men be the husbands, fathers, and friends that God has always wanted us to be!"

About Lutheridge

Located in Arden, North Carolina, Lutheridge is a place that provide programs, times and places apart where all people can experience a Christ-centered community and grow in relationship to God and God's creation and be equipped for ministry. Year round programs are offered for youth, adults, families, men, women, and senior adults

One Year To Live.....

More than a weekend retreat, One Year to Live is a strategy for men to look into their lives and decisions that shape their individual spiritual journeys. This program offers events where men can encounter Christ and create opportunities that enable us to explore the difference Christ can make in our lives, our families and our communities.

To have a reaction to Jesus you have to forget your reputation!

You can't experience a reaction to Jesus if you don't open your heart and put yourself on the line. Are you "man enough" to be a part of One Year to Live? The retreat is only the beginning. "One Year to Live is not about trying to fill parish halls with men," says Doug Haugen, ELCA Director of LMM. "It's about creating places and events where men encounter Christ and where discipleship can take place. It's about men who know their lives are a train wreck without Jesus and who are willing to walk with other guys, not only in the good times, but also in life's dumpsters. Those kinds of places and events often do not happen within the walls of a church building."

All funds pay for food, housing, materials and transportation of LMM leaders from the mid west. All leaders are strictly volunteers to help everyone along their journey.*
